

SECOND QUARTER REPORT 2009

This report is about our surgical mission to Malindi, Kenya. BandS was responsible for bringing the team together and arranged all travel and accommodations for the trip. With a lot of help and support, as you will read in the report written by Dr. Jim Wilson, we had a very successful mission. It was an interesting experiment for a faith based organization to work out of a Muslim hospital. It was a rewarding venture that we hope to repeat.

Much of the work accomplished by BandS this quarter was monitoring the projects we have underway and getting ready for the surgical mission trip to Kenya. We have projects in the Philippines, Indonesia and Kenya that still needs support. Buildings are not much use until they are completed.

WIKI YA NEEMA – WEEK OF GRACE

Malindi, Kenya – June 22-26, 2009: 28 physicians, nurses, anesthesiologists, student nurses and volunteers donated their services, and for the most part, paid their own travel expenses. Dr. Whittaker and his family came from Nigeria, where he heads up the Nigerian Christian Hospital.

The surgical camp was sponsored by The Caris Foundation International in cooperation with the Hon. Gideon Mung'aro, Member of Parliament for the Malindi Region of Kenya.

More than 200 patients were referred to us for surgery. These patients were examined, and 154 surgeries were performed. The most common surgeries were inguinal herniorrhaphies and hydrocelectomies. Most of these were very large, longstanding hernias and hydroceles which often required special surgical attention. There were many skin lesions that were removed as well as several hysterectomies and the excisions of large ovarian cysts. We were fortunate to have board certified general surgeons and one board certified OB/GYN doing the surgeries.

The Prime Minister of Kenya, Hon. Raila Odinga, and the Minister of Medical Services, Hon. Professor Peter Anyang' Nyong'o, M.P., spent time with leaders of our group asking us to conduct surgery camps in their home districts.

A special thanks goes to Jim and Laura Reppart of Caris Foundation International / Kenya. They were essential in developing the spirit of cooperation with the government and civic leaders in Kenya. They oversaw a myriad of issues and, through their efforts, all the team members were given free lodging and meals in seaside hotels.

The success of the week was also dependent upon the kindness of many corporations and organizations in the US. Sutures were donated by Ethicon through MAP International. Anesthesia medicines were donated from Hospira and Baxter through AmeriCares and Bedford Laboratories. Surgical instruments were donated by Operation New Life in Little Rock, Smith Medical and CURE in Fort Smith, and Project: Chosen Mission in Maryland. Electro-surgical units were donated by Smith Medical and Valley Lab in Colorado. Endotracheal tubes were donated by Verathon Medical in Vancouver, B.C., as well as a Glidescopes Video Laryngoscopy device for teaching intubations to physicians in Malindi. Steris, Inc. donated 'Vesta-Syde' for disinfecting instruments. St. Edward's Mercy Medical Center in Fort Smith provided 2 'Life-Pak' monitor/defibrillators. Surgical gloves and other surplus items were donated by Rapha, International in Ft. Worth. CURE also provided a large amount of donated supplies that were received from hospitals and other organizations throughout the US. American Crating in Tulsa donated their HazMat and packaging services in preparing the anesthetic agent Ultane for air shipment. CURE graciously tolerated several months of tied up floor space for the separating out and packaging of the 3 pallets of supplies that were shipped to Kenya in mid-May. Dr. Jim Wilson, assisted by Lesa Dale and Bob Langston, managed the huge effort of acquiring materials and medicines from the donors and shipping to Malindi.

Caris Foundation International provided significant financial resources for the purchase and shipping of many essential items, including a significant amount of supplies from within Kenya.

Most of all, the team is so thankful to have been able to utilize their talents to provide surgical services, in the name of Jesus, to those who are so needful. Being able to do this in both a government and Islamic hospital in Kenya was a very special blessing.

BandS has spent $48,000 more than we have received in contributions since the first of this year. We have been able to continue our work because of your generous contributions during the last quarter of 2008. We hope you will help us complete the orphanages under construction.

If you know a pathologist who would be interested in helping us diagnose about 25 cases a year, please have them call Dr. Bailey at 817.480.2156.
